LEADERS IP.

In all movements, the success of which depend upon the harmonious combination of great numbers, whether in the moral, intellectual, or physical world, there must be leaders—and in morals or politics, leaders who can plan, and direct, and who can command the confidence by divining and representing the aggregate opinions of the members making up the combinations. Necessarily, these leaders will become prominent and conspicuous marks for the shafts of all opposing forces, or rival combinations. They must, in fact, become the focus of attack, confidence in them must be destroyed, or the opposition will not hope for triumph. To defend such leaders is in no sense, man worship, but a support of the movement, a defense of the principles they represent. Violent assault by an opposing combination is prima facia evidence of the ability, fitness and fidelity of the leaders and of the weakness of the assailant. It does not follow that there should be a blind following of leaders, but it does follow that leaders should be sustained, until adjudged false or incompetent by a well considered verdict of friends.

SENATOR MORRILL'S SPEECH.

It has been evident for some time that Senator Morrill of Vermont, was loaded with a speech against San Domingo, and it was also evident that he would not rest satisfied until he had discharged himself. These facts induced the Senate, already weary with forestalling speeches, to yield to him to read a three hour speech. The galleries had but few persons in them to listen, and there were many vacant chairs on the Senate floor. Senators preferring to give the time, thus wasted by Mr. Morrill, to the good of the country in other directions. Not a few expected to hear something new on the subject, but they were disappointed. The Senator quoted well from ancient history and was moderate and temperate in his remarks. He confined himself to opposing the measure and did not go out of his way, as did Sumner and Schurz, to abuse the man. The Speech, although against the project of annexation, cannot in any way be considered as an answer to the report of the Commissioners; it having been written so long before the report was made. His effort is looked upon at Washington as having been made in bad taste, serving no purpose at the present time except to prolong the session.

REPUBLICAN INDEPENDENCE.

The personal independence of the members of the Republican party is so universal that the enforcement of submissive discipline is impossible. Except when issues are vital and sharply defined, this independence will become an element of weakness, difficult to remedy, impossible to extinguish, and, therefore, of necessity to be counteracted. The only pathway to Republican affection is through the aggregate judgment of the individual membership. That judgment cannot be commanded like an army (as can the masses of the Democracy) but must be convinced like a deliberative body by substantive facts and irrefutable logic. Persons, platforms and policies are impotent whenever they fail to conform to the combined judgment of the Republican masses. When the judgment of such a party is convinced, the party becomes invincible through its overwhelming mental power, and consequent, vigorous action.

If these premises are admitted, and it is believed they will not be disputed, then, is not the duty of earnest and informed Republicans everywhere manifest? Is it not equally plain that the mental volume of the nation will not be fully supplied, and that it will become turgid and unwholesome, unless the springs and rivulets from which its facts and ideas are drawn, are purified and constantly replenished? Is it not apparent that even the matchless principles of the Republican party require renewed advocacy and a re-statement of the facts, which render their application to public affairs essential to the public safety.

MR. VOORHEES IDEA OF THE KU KLUX.

While the bill for suppressing Ku-Klux outrages at the South was under consideration in the House, Mr. Voorhees of Indiana, said, he desired to call the attention of Republicans to the fact, that in those States where the Democratic party is in power, no murders or outrages are committed, no trampling upon law is tolerated; nor are the rights of any citizen disrespected. We have no doubt Mr. Voorhees statement is correct in the main. The reason is obvious. Whenever the Republican party is in the minority, it has never attempted to regain lost power by a resort to violence or force. It is a cardinal principal of Republican faith that the majority shall rule, and the gentleman from Ind., will look in vain for an instance where the Republican party has ever laid violent hands upon either the rights or the liberties of man, because the people at the ballot box have seen fit to transfer the authority once conferred upon it to other hands. The principles which form the basis upon which the Republican party repose, are law and order. No true Republican believes that truth can triumph by the instrumentality of force, or succeed when the only mode of argument is the bludgeon and the lash. No party will so surely destroy itself as that party which resorts to the use of violence to retain power when possessed, or to regain it when lost.

The Democratic party is a standing witness to the truth of this proposition. When in the Presidential contest of 1860, that party lost political ascendency in the government of the Nation, it at once inaugurated a wicked rebellion, choosing rather to reign in Hell than to remain loyal subjects of Heaven. In proof of this, let facts be submitted to a candid people. So soon as the elections of 1860 settled the fact, that power must pass from the hands of the Democratic party, the leaders at once commenced to steal and plunder from the Government of which they then had control, and by the 4th of March, 1861, had bankrupted the treasury, robbed the nations' arsenals of their arms, scattered the navy beyond the reach of the Government it had been organized to protect, and openly plotted to assassinate the incoming President on his way to assume the Presidential honors, to which he had been honestly elected by the people. Yea more; organized resistence to the Government was at once openly countenanced by Democratic politicians, and efforts made to spread disaster and ruin where peace and plenty had hitherto universally prevailed. Nor did the party stop here—maddened by the loss of power, and clinging to the demoralized democratic theory, of the right to traffic in human flesh and bones, it fired upon the flag of its country, waged war against the Government it had for more than a quarter of a century controlled, murdered and starved to death two hundred and fifty thousand loyal men, and sent thousands more maimed for life to untimely graves. Would that these were all its crimes. But no—when the strong arm of the Government had finally subdued the party upon the land, and sunk it upon the seas, generously exempting its neck from a halter it richly merited and deserved, it again commenced to clamor for power, and because the people do not yet feel quite satisfied to trust it in all the States so lately in revolt, it starts anew on its work of ruin, by secret and masked organizations more terrible in their results, and more fearful to contemplate than all the tortures or the savage of the sepoy.

Yes, Mr. Voorhees is correct when he says, that all the alleged outrages are committed in States where the Republican party has hitherto been trusted with power, but as investigation establishes the notorious fact, that in not one of these masked midnight organizations, is a Republican to be found—all are Democrats, pledged under oath to support the Democratic ticket. There is little doubt that these organizations will be disbanded, so soon as the States where they exist, shall again place the Democracy in power. The party will then be able to accomplish, by unclean legislation, what they now seek to do by clothing themselves in the midnight garments of the devil, going about to intimidate the weak, and to whip and murder the strong.

At the door of the Democratic party lies that overwhelming load of guilt which Mr. Voorhees admits exists in all places where his party has not been intrusted with authority to rule. Should the Democrats in Congress to-day, by a resolution, publicly passed and sent to the leading Democratic politicians of the South, praying that all Democrats would desist from the use of the bludgeon and the mask, the present statute against democratic outrages would find no subject South liable to the severety of its penalties. Yet with all these facts staring it in the face and which it knows full well it cannot contradict the Watchman of last week, exclaims "Give us back Democracy, and the good old days." Shame, shame we say unto thee oh, Peter G. Meek and Et tu Brute associate Joseph.

THE APPORTIONMENT BILL ADOPTED—SENATE.

Mr. Davis submitted the report of the Conference Committee on the Apportment Bill, calling the previous question, and the report was adopted by a vote of 27 to 4 the nays being Warfel, Billingfelt, Allen and Findlay. This report was agreed upon at four o'clock on Friday, the 21st inst., and is as follows:

REPUBLICAN VICTORY.

THE LOYAL HOSTS ADVANCING!

COPPERHEADS AND REBELS SUBDUED IN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

President Grant Renominated.

SPEECH OF COL. JOHN W. FORNEY.

On the 20th inst., the citizens of the District of Columbia held their first election under the recent act of Congress giving them a new form of government. They voted for the first time for a delegate to represent them in Congress, and for members of the House of Delegates. The members of the Council and the upper board of the Legislative Assembly had been previously appointed by the President.

The election was remarkably peaceful and the result is a glorious Republican victory. The Democrats had made their boasts that they would carry the election, but they failed. Neither fraud nor terrorism availed them this time. The triumph of the Republicans under the circumstances is much greater than was expected by the most sanguine of our friends. Our majority is over FOUR THOUSAND. The lower House of Delegates is Republican, contrary to all expectation. With a Republican victory in Connecticut, which last year went Democratic, with victories East and West, North and South, in almost every State, charter or municipal election where elections have been held and now this grand triumph in the District of Columbia the present signs of the times we think fully indicate the popular pulse and beating of the loyal heart of the nation. Surely it leaves the Democracy without any argument against the Administration of Gen. Grant, and proves beyond a paradventure that the loyal and patriotic people of the United States are not prepared to entrust the keeping of this free and independent government to the hands of its enemies, the rebels, traitors and their northern sympathizers who sought to destroy its life.

We learn from a friend in Washington that the Republicans are jubilant and that the effect of the news, is to arouse the latent energies, and heal the foolish local divisions of the Republican party, all over the country. On the night of the 20th at Washington, the whole city was illuminated and every true patriot joined in the general jubilee. At the Union Club house where many of the principal Republicans were assembled, there was a serenade, and Col. Jno. W. Forney was called out by the assemblage. The Col. of course made a good speech, so good that we think we would be derelict of duty if we did not lay it before our readers. It is a great, truthful, eloquent speech, and nominates Gen. Grant for the Presidency in 1872

SPEECH OF COL. FORNEY.

MY FELLOW CITIZENS:—To-day's event will go forth to the people of America as something more than a mere municipal triumph. It is the crystallization of the logic of the overthrow of the rebellion. It closes the period of Republican dissention and opens the future of Republican victory. It is death to the defeat that springs from personal quarrels, and life to the spirit born of personal magnanimity.—It saves the capital of the nation from periodical discussions about impossible removal to doubtful localities. (Applause.) It indicates the ability of the colored man to enjoy liberty won by the bullet and consecrated by the ballot. It rescues the capital from influences which, however capable, must have been certainly calamitous. It invites to you Northern men and Northern money; and through you pours emigration, enterprise, and wealth all over the fertile and semi-populated expanses of the South. Had you failed in your struggle to-day, the great capital started by Washington and saved by Grant would have been a sort of Flanders between the North and South, where discordant factions, shaming the name of Democracy, would have plotted new distrust in the one, and new devastation and treachery in the other. But from this night you date a new evangelism. You begin another career; and in the name of the millions who are getting prouder every day of their country, as they contrast it with the lacerated condition of such a nation as poor, bleeding France, so do they become prouder of the capital of that country. In their name, and as one who has followed your fortunes through good and through evil report, I congratulate you on the magnificent victory of today. [Applause.] Let us not, however, my friends, in this hour of victory forget those who aided us to prepare and organize victory. I have always believed that the party that seizes and controls the government of the city of Washington and the District of Columbia is of infinately more importance than the party which seizes and controls many of the States of the Union. This is forcibly true of the present period, with its new elements of invention, of progress in the shape of railroads, telegraphs, and printing presses. President Grant, evidently after a careful study of the situation, doubtless deploring the unhappy feuds among his political supporters, encouraged the new Territorial system incorporated by Congress, and began his recognition of it by the significant appointment of Henry D. Cooke as Governor. I desire to be quite candid when I say, while wholly supporting the selection of Mr. Cooke, I did not suppose that with all his large means, earned by hard and honest toil, he would enter into the canvass with the determination, wisdom, and enthusiasm he has displayed. To these qualities, so fully foreshadowed in his inaugural speech, he has added a generosity and a toleration which has been crowned by extraordinary results. He has conciliated and brought together discordant friends. He has counselled the appointment of representative men of both races. He has advocated education and manufactures. He has encouraged art and science, and he has brought to bear upon his whole policy a comprehensive statesmanship which shows him to be a citizen above mere personal ambition, and regardless of the narrow influence supposed to surround the possessor of large wealth. But while we honor Gov. Cooke for those attributes, let us not forget the man without whom there would have been no Republican victory to-day. That man is President Grant. [Applause.] I do not conceal from you, my friends, that I have deplored some recent events in our great organization, and have not hesitated to give utterance to my sentiments in this direction.—But the President's two recent messages, that in regard to San Domingo, and that demanding the protection of the Union men of the South, have convinced me that if the Republican party desires success in 1872 it must be under the banner carried by the man who led them to victory in 1868. These two State papers alone establish the fact that he will have no policy against the will of the people, and that he will employ all the powers of the Government to protect the people in the enjoyment of their own opinions; and supplemented as the latter has been by the prompt passage of the bill enforcing the fourteenth amendment and sustaining the rights of the people of the South in accordance with his message asking such legislation and signed promptly by him this very day—this fact completely dissipates all accusations that he is not the firm and fearless friend of the loyal people of America, white and black. We are in the very forefront of the next Presidential campaign. Your great victory of to-day is the trumpet call to national battle. [Applause.] The Democracy will be reinforced next year by cohorts such as they did not dream of in their philosophy in 1868. They have two great treasuries from which to draw their subsidies, the treasury of the British free-traders in Liverpool, and the treasury of the Democratic free-traders in New York. It is no figure of speech to say that unless the Democracy can elect a Democratic President in 1872, British manufactures will go down, and the people of England will demand of their rulers the higher wages which at once enlighten and elevate the workingmen of America. These combinations, working to a common centre, will place in the hands of the Democratic party next year at least ten millions of dollars, to be wielded by men who are now shaping the Legislature of New York so as to make that State secure to them, and to enable them to seize Connecticut, Indiana, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and even Ohio, and to weld these States to a South consolidated in support of their policy—never denied and repeatedly stated—of repudiation of the national debt, the overthrow of the three Amendments to the Constitution, the recession of the negro to virtual slavery, the assertion of State rights, and the destruction of the ballot. [Applause.] Had you failed to-day your city would have been a copy of Tammanied New York. Here the fulcrum would have been placed whence to move the South into new rebellion and new desolation. But now, under the lead of the soldier who rescued you from the rebellion, and whose administration of the National Government has secured for him the confidence of the whole American people, whose generosity to Lee and the Southern army at Appomattox, in April of 1865, has never known retiring ebb, and whose claims to renomination to the office he has filled so honorably in the midst of unutterable difficulties are now conceded by friend and foe, your city has not only been delivered from the damaging control of a party pledged to unimaginable retrogression, but the country itself saved from a terrible reaction. [Applause.]

THE United States has 47,254 miles of railroads; Europe has 61,043 miles; Asia has 4,474 miles; Africa has 4,573 miles; Austria has 789 miles; and the American Continent, exclusive of the United States, and including its islands, has 4,416 miles. The United States thus shows more than one-third of the railway mileage of the world.

Rhode Island last year had 162 divorces or one to every fourteen marriages.

COMPENSATION.

By a wise provision of nature, mankind suffers no evil or misfortune that is not sooner or later balanced by a compensating benefit. So it has ever been, and this knowledge should teach us patience.

The loss of New Hampshire, though an unfortunate event in some respects, cannot, on the whole, be considered as an exception to this law of compensation. We now perceive the benefit in the healthy reaction upon the public mind, the new life and vigor infused in the republican ranks, East and West, as evidenced when the recent opportunity was presented for an expression of popular feeling. The party of principles is not the weaker for the result in this State; on the contrary, the Democratic bonfires acted like the red signal of danger to a ship at sea; they informed us that rocks were near, that breakers were around us, and that it was imperative upon us to right the ship, even though some unserviceable, unwieldy guns had to be thrown overboard.

The result is, that to-day, we are in better trim for sailing; the roll has been called and the most trustworthy men placed on the lookout, and while in this condition, we need fear neither winds, waves, nor enemies; but it is by vigilance only that we can expect to maintain supremacy. We have a wily, unscrupulous enemy who seeks by false lights to lure our vessel upon the rocks; let us then be steadfast and true, and victory in the future as in the past, will certainly be ours,

THE MANUFACTURER AND BUILDER.—The number for May of this popular industrial magazine is received. Like every number that we have seen, this one contains a vast amount of matter instructive and entertaining to the mechanic, the professional man, and the general reader. Among the articles of more general interest we notice that relating to the English road-roller recently imported for use upon the streets of New Haven, Ct., accompanied by fine engravings of the machine, showing its mechanical details. Another fine engraving shows on an enlarged scale some details of the architecture of the New York City post office, which when completed, will be one of the most imposing structures in the country. Prof. Vill's celebrated experiments relating to the growth of plants is continued in this number, and is also fully illustrated, as also is an article relating to the application of the polariscope to the manufacture of sugar. Mechanics will be more directly interested in the articles on steam guns, blind making machinery, method of constructing spiral stairs, the construction of ovens, liquid paint, woven wire beds, improved method of tinning cast iron, and the like, of which there are upward of twenty in the number before us. In the department of Questions, Answers, and Problems there is a condensed mass of useful information which alone is worth to any man the price of the magazine many times over. It is published by Western & Company, 37 Park Row, New York, at the remarkable low price of $1.50 a year.—The news dealers have it for sale at 15 cents a copy.

WHICH?

The administration of President Grant, has increased the collection of Revenue one hundred and sixty millions over the collections of Johnson's for the last two years of his administration, since which time, the internal taxes have been reduced eighty three millions, and custom duties twenty three millions. Query! Is the administration of Grant more competent or honest than that of his predecessor? If not more honest, then it must be more capable—if not more capable, then it must be more honest. If neither of these be true, then Johnson collected one hundred and sixty millions more in the last two years of his administration than Grant in his two first. The record shows not only that such was the case, but still farther, that Grant's collections largely exceeded those of Johnson.—Which of the crimes against public policy was Johnson guilty of, dishonesty or incapacity? Again, which, if not both of the public virtues, honesty and capability, is President Grant to be credited with?

Jacob Methusaleh, South Bend, Ind., laughed himself to death, at a droll story told by a friend.

A new line of steamers is now running between Bremen and Aspinwall.

WANTED.

The following advertisement is a poetic summary of what is often looked for:—

Wanted—a perfect lady,
Delicate, gentle, refined,
With every beauty of person,
And every endowment of mind,
Fitted by early culture
To move in fashionable life,
And shine a gem in the parlor;
Wanted—a minister's wife!

Wanted—a thorough-bred worker,
Who well to her household looks—
Shall we see our money wasted
By extravagant Irish cooks?
Who cuts the daily expenses
With economy as sharp as a knife,
And washes and scrubs in the kitchen;
Wanted—a minister's wife!

A "very domestic person;"
To callers she must not be out;
It has such a bad appearance
For her to be gadding about;
Only to visit the parish
Every year of her life,
And attend the funerals and weddings,
Wanted—a minister's wife!

Cacklers.

Instinct, I suppose, we must call the moving force which makes a barn-door fowl cackle when she has laid an egg. It would be altogether better—better at any rate for the increase of the race of fowls—if the hen would wait until she had laid her allotted number of eggs, had sat upon them, and had hatched them into chickens; when, with living witnesses of her success in the perpetuation of her kind scratching by her side, she might strut about the farm yard, flap her wings, plume herself, and cackle to her heart's content with impunity. As it is she announces to her limited world, too soon for her success in chicken raising, that she has laid an egg, by cackling. By thus prematurely and noisily glorifying herself upon having obtained the first step towards the honors of fowl maternity, the hen but invites the thrifty housewife to sally forth and search for the egg, over the production of which she is so proudly noisy and vainglorious. And so the nest is robbed, and the incipient chick is straightway boiled or fried, beaten into a custard or made into a savoury omelette, incorporated into the dressing of a salad, or used to give consistency to the matutinal rum-and-milk of the master of the house. Learning nothing by experience, yet not fergetting that it is her mission to lay eggs, the foolish hen lays another and another, cackles, and is robbed as before. If by chance chickens are produced from any of the eggs, it is by their being warmed into life under the feathery breast of some vicarious mother, whose capacity for the duty imposed upon her is known and relied upon.

From this unfortunate instinct of cackling—unfortunate at least from a hen's point of view—from this counting of chickens before they are hatched, it comes that from so many eggs so few chickens are produced. But it is not hens alone which cackle when they have none, or begin to do, or resolve to do, or think of doing something wonderful. Men and women individually, and communities and nations collectively, strut and cackle at the first thought of, or at the first step taken towards the doing of something never destined to be done, and which is to fail mainly because of cackling. Human beings who cackle, inasmuch as they are supposed not to be governed by instinct, but by what we are accustomed to consider to be the higher attribute of reason, are, so far, greater fools than hens. Besides, the hen waits at any rate until she has taken the first step—until she has laid an egg. Mankind cackle when they have conceived an idea. Hence it is that so many ideas and schemes come to nought, or are carried to successful issue by some one not the originator of them.

Inventors and discoverers have often been cacklers, and thus the honor and profits of their inventions and discoveries have been lost to themselves, their very claim to coincident invention and discovery being denied or doubted. They cackled, and their nests were robbed, and their eggs were hatched by others less scrupulous, but more industrious and persevering than themselves. Trace the history of any great invention, and see how many claimants there are to it, the majority of whom, if the truth were known, would be found to have lost their claims by cackling. The successful application of most inventions and discoveries will be found to have been brought about, not by their inventors and discoverers who have cackled, but by practical and reticent men who have given to their crude ideas form and substance, and have not cackled until success was assured. Inventors and discoverers who have not cackled, and who have been capable of bringing to successful and practical use their inventions and discoveries, have generally secured to themselves the fruits of their ingenuity. It is not only that cackling makes the right of property in an idea, as in an egg, more precarious, but when failure ensues in the carrying of it out—even when no attempt is made at appropriation—ridicule is unsparingly heaped upon the cackler. In less enlightened times, inventors and discoverers who cackled have been imprisoned and burnt at the stake; nowadays, cacklers whose ideas are impracticable, or who, if they are the contrary, have not the ability and force of character to carry them out before they are stolen, are derided as dreamers and madmen, and sometimes from disappointed brooding over that which they have not the power to advance beyond an idea, they actually become mad, and justify the estimate which was formed of them.

Authors and artists are often cacklers, but they do not suffer so often or so much from there cackling as do inventors and discoverers; probably because there is less temptation to steal ideas, or to carry out intentions from the elaboration of which so little fame or profit is to be made; or, perhaps because the public manner in which the cacklers do their cackling, deters others from forestalling them. Cackling writers, painters, or sculptors, who trumpe forth after a club dinner that they are going to write an article upon this subject or upon that, dramatise this novel or burlesque that epic, paint this event, or chisel that figure or group, do more injury to their less demonstrative listeners than they do to themselves. Many a man capable of writing upon some particular subject, and with industry enough to do it quickly, and talent enough to do it well, has abandoned the intention, sometimes even after he had begun the work, because some cackler had announced that he was going to write upon the same subject. Many a reticent man finds himself thus publicly anticipated in the work, literary or artistic, which he has chalked out for himself, and for which he is eminently qualified. He is not the only loser; the loss suffered by the public is greater than his. These cacklers often, by their uncalled for confidences, are tacitly permitted to acquire a sort of pre-emptive right to subjects which they either want the power or the industry to improve. When a man pre-empts a quarter section of government land; he must begin its improvement and cultivation, and must occupy it within a certain specific time, or vacate it in favor of some one more able, if not more willing than himself, to perform the obligations which are the conditions of pre-emption. So I have often thought it would be well to establish a rule in literary and artistic clubs and coteries, that when a man publicly cackles over an idea, unless he works it out to the best of his ability within a reasonable time—not be prevented by illness or other unavoidable cause—he should be considered as having no right to complain if some one else should make the subject his own.

The mercantile classes are not given to cackling as a rule. They generally contrive to conceal and hatch, or try to hatch all the eggs they lay, though they do not always get healthy chickens from them. They brag a good deal when they have done something great, and made much money; but they almost invariably keep there own counsel as to what they are going to do, and, if possible, as to what they are doing. The merchant is not heard announcing publicly at his club to other merchants who, like himself, are on the lookout for a good thing, that he is going, or has just is going into speculation in indigo, or cotton, or saltpetre, or silk.

The shipowner does not proclaim aloud on 'Change what he thinks the best port to seek a cargo for, at least not until he has succeeded in getting charters for all his own vessels, and then he only gives his advice—for a consideration.—The successful speculator in stocks is notorious for his reticence. Even as a broker, operating for a commission, he generally declines to advise, but leaves his clients to decide for themselves the ventures they are to engage in, and, after they have decided, he is ready to execute their orders, to buy or to sell, provided he has a sufficient margin in hand, or has good reason to believe that they will be prepared with the necessary contango on settling day if they wish to hold over.—Cackling amongst business men is rare, because it is ruinous. Cacklers, who have embarked their means in mercantile pursuits, from cotton-brokers to costermongers, when they begin to cackle, immediately cease to prosper, and soon cease to trade.

Ministers of state and legislators are great cacklers. The former cackle to the party which places them in power, the latter to the constituencies which elect them. The eggs which they lay and cackle over are not often stolen, because they are seldom worth stealing, and they are as rarely hatched, because they are either addled or not very assiduously sat upon; indeed, they are generally what are called in some parts of the country wind eggs. Diplomatists are supposed never to cackle, but the excessive care they take to mystify the world as to what they are about, in itself leads to discovery. When they do hatch their eggs, it is remarkable that there is never any certainty whether they may not produce innocent ducklings, as often as harmless ducklings, as often as harmless chickens—venomous snakes and stinging scorpions, as often as either.

Great potentates, presidents, kings and emperors have some of them been great cacklers.

Charles the First, of England, and Louis the Sixteenth, of France, lost their thrones and their heads—the one cackling over an egg laid by himself, from which he fondly hoped was to spring despotic power to him and to his race; the other, brooding over an egg, the product of a long course of despotism, which had been handed down to him to hatch, and which, unfortunately, was not destroyed with him, but remained in the nest to be quickened by his republican successors, Robespierre, Marat, and the rest. From this egg sprang anarchy, confusion, death, and the many evils which, from time to time for the last three-quarters of a century, have devastated the fair land of France, and made her now and then a nuisance to her neighbors.

Napoleon the Third, one of the numerous progeny of that same egg, offered one of the latest examples of cackling too soon when he announced so melo-dramatically that his son "had received his baptism of fire at Saarbruck; and the very latest cackler is the new-born French republic, which, not old enough to lay an egg, is endangering the safety of the nest which it is preparing by announcing to the world that rather than harm shall come to it, and all France will die in the ruins of Paris.

Philosophers of the peace schools cackled too soon, as is proved by the present unhappy war; but they have lost their egg, which was more than eighteen hundred years ago, nor has it become addled. The successful hatching is only delayed for a time. The offspring, "Peace on earth, good will to men," will be very welcome to the nations which are now exhausting themselves by strife, and by those who have been in danger of being driven into the quarrel.

But fool as a hen proves herself to be when she cackles, because she has laid an egg, she is not half such a fool as when she sits upon eggs and hatches ducks, and does not know that they are not chickens until they take to the water, and to eating garbage, and is not sure of it even then. Her folly begins when she dosen't know the difference between her own shapely white eggs and the pale great squat ones of the duck; it increases to temporary insanity when she clucks with pride and scratches for the substence of a lot of flat-footed, spoon-billed creatures, with as much resemblance to chickens as the slender silvery salmon bears to the slimy broad-headed codfish, and it descends into absolute idiocy, when she flies to an inland stone to guard her spurious chicks from the dangers of the mill-pond. Mankind furnish examples of such folly and madness when they brood over and hatch schemes which, blinded by the pride of supposed maternity, they do not recognise as not their own until the evil which is in them begins unmistakably to show itself, and makes manifest their real nature.

If it were not for the warning cackle of hens the land would be overrun with fowls. If it were not for the warning cackle of men a brood of monsters might be hatched which would overrun and disturb the world.

Laughable Incident.

A few days since, a colored lad entered a store in Portland with what he described as an "awful feeling in de stomach, j st like it wor full of fishhooks and angle worms,' and demanded a 'Setter powder,' as he had been advised that would give relief. Accordingly the Seidlitz powders were dissolved in seperate glasses, as usual, and placed before him, with instructions to pour one into the other and drink while effervescing. But the sable youth did nothing of the sort. Instead of following the directions, he hastily drank of the contents of one glass and immediotely swallowed the other. The effervescence which should have taken place in the glass before it was drank, took place in the beuildered darkey's stomach, sending streams of the frothy liquid from his mouth, nose, eyes and ears. As soon as the poor fellow could recover breath he cried out, in frightened tones: 'My stomach has busted; I can't live a minute!' In a few moments, however, he felt better and, turning to depart he said; 'Dat stuff may work well nuf on de white trash, but it's sure death on a nigger.'

A Methodical Printer.—The New Orleans Picayune tells the story of a Printer, who, when his fellow workmen went out to drink beer during working hours, put in the bank the amount which he would have spent if he had gone out to drink. He kept to this resolution for five years. He then examined his bank account and found that he had on deposit $521,86. In the five years he lost not a day from ill health. Three out of the five of his fellow workmen had in the meantime become drunkards, were worthless as workmen, and were discharged. The water-drinker then bought out the printing office, went on enlarging his business, and in twenty years from the time he began to put up his money was worth, $100,000. The story, which every young mechanic should lay to heart.

An Indiana girl, finding a man in her room at a hotel, picked him up and threw him out of the window. He says he was never "taken down" so suddenly in his life.

We are pained to learn that since Brigham Young's marriage he has lost nearly two dozen of his mothers-in-laws.

Kiss my Wife, or Fight.

There are few married men who are not averse to seeing their wives kissed; but a correspondent relates the particulars of a case in which a newly-wedded Benedict felt himself insulted because his wife was not kissed. The bridegroom in question was a stalwart young rustic, who was known as a formidable operator in a "free fight." His bride was a blooming and beautiful country girl, only sixteen years of age, and the twain were at a party where a number of young folks of both sexes were enjoying themselves in the good old-fashioned style. Every girl in the room was called out and kissed, except B., the beautiful young bride aforesaid; and although there was not a youngster who was not dying to taste her lips, they were restrained by the presence of her herculean husband, who stood regarding the party with a look of sullen dissatisfaction. They mistook the cause for suddenly he expressed himself. Rolling up his sleeves he stepped into the middle of the room, and in a tone that secured marked attention, said:

"Gentlemen, I have been noticing how things have been working here for some time, and I ain't satisfied. I don't want to raise a fuss, but——"

"What's the matter, John?" inquired half a dozen voices. "Have we done anything to hurt your feelings?"

"Yes, you have; all of you have hurt my feelings, and I have just this to say about it. Here's every girl in the room has been kissed nigh a dozen times a piece, and there's my wife, who I consider as likely as any of 'em, has not had a single one to-night; and I just tell you now, if she don't get as many kisses the rest of the night as any girl in the room, the man that slights her has got me to fight—that's all. Now go ahead with your plays."

Advice To Young Wives.

I would say to the young wife, do not imagine that because you have obtained a husband, that your attention to personal neatness and deportment may be relaxed. Now, in reality, is the time for you to exhibit superior taste and excellence in the cultivation of your address, and the becoming elegance of your appearance. If it required some little care to foster the admiration of a lover, how much more is requisite to keep yourself lovely in the eyes of him to whom there is no privacy or disguise—your hourly companion? And if it was due to your lover that you should always present to him, who proposed to wed and cherish you, a neat and ladylike aspect, how much more is he entitled to a similar mark of respect, who has kept his promise with honorable fidelity, and linked all his hopes of future happiness with yours? If you can manage these matters without appearing to study them, so much the better. Some husbands are impatient at the routine of the toilette, and not unreasonably so—they possess active and energetic spirits, sorely disturbed by any waste of time. Some wives have discovered an admirable facility in dealing with this difficulty; and it is a secret which, having been discovered by some, may be known to all, and is well worth the finding out.

The Earth.—It is the earth, says Pliny, that like a kind mother receives us at our birth, and sustains us when born.—It is this alone, of all the elements around us, that is never found an enemy to man. The body of water deluge him with rains oppresses him with hail, and drown him with inundations. The air rushes in storms, prepares the tempest, or lights up the volcano. But the earth, gentle and indulgent, ever subservent to the wants of man, spreads his walks with flowers, and his taele with plenty—returns with interest every good committed to her care; and though she produces the poison, she still supplies the antidote—though constantly teazed more to furnish the luxuries of man than his necessities, yet even to the last she continues her kind indulgence; and when life is over, she piously covers his remains in her bosom.

Sir Isaac Newton.—It is said of Sir Isaac Newton that he often forgot to eat his dinner, which his housekeeper was accustomed to leave in a closet near his study. His head was too much in the heavens to mind the earth; so a friend knowing his peculiarity, one day slipped his dinner out of the basket and ate it up. When at last the philosopher came out and greeted his friend, he asked to be excused till he took his lunch. On looking into the basket and finding it gone, he simply exclaimed, much to his friend's amusement: "Oh, I forgot—I have eaten my dinner!"

Be Gentle.—Habitual gentleness is a safeguard against onward annoyance. A mind that is calm and serene beholds everything in the most favorable light, and like a smooth stream, reflects every object in its just proportion and fairest colors. A spirit always in agitation communicates something of its turbulence to those with whom it comes in contact, and is a disturbing element in whatever society it may be thrown.

There are over 100 female lecturers in the country, and the number is increasing every month.

The summit of Mount Washington is said now to be free from snow.

A Puzzled Dutchman.

A Wisconsin secular paper contains the following good story:

One who does not believe in immersion for baptism was holding a protracted meeting, and one night preached on the subject of baptism. In the course of his remarks he said some believe it necessary to go down into the water, and come up out of it to be baptized. But this he claimed to be a fallacy, for the preposition "into" of the Scriptures should be rendered differently, as it does not mean into at all times. "Moses," he said, "we are told, went up into the mountain, and the Saviour was taken into a high mountain, etc. Now we do not suppose that either went into the mountain, but upon it. So with going down into the water, it means simply going down close by or near to the water, and being baptized in the ordinary way, by sprinkling."

He carried this idea out fully, and in due season and style closed his discourse, when an invitation was given to any one who felt so disposed to rise and express their thoughts. Quite a number of the brethren arose and said that they were glad that they had been present on this occasion, that they were well pleased with the sound sermon they had just heard, and felt their souls greatly blessed. Finally a corpulent gentleman of Teutonic extraction, a stranger to all, arose and broke a silence, that was most painful, as follows:

"Mister Breacher, I ish so glad I vash here to-night, for I has had explained to my min't some things I never could believe pefore. We reat, Mister Breacher, that Taniel vast cast into the ten of lions, and came out alife! Now I nebel could pelief dat, for de wilt peasts would shust eat him up right off; but now it ish ferry clear to my min't. He vas shust close py or near to, and tid not get into de ten at all. O, I vash so glad I vas here to-night!

"Again we reat dat de Hebrew children vas cast into de firish furnace, and dat air alwaish look't like a peeg story too, for they would have been purnt up; put it ish all plain to my min't now, for they were shust cast close py or near to de firish furnace. O, I vash so glat I vash here to-night!

"And den, Mister Breacher, it ish said dat Jona vast cast into de sea and into de whaleish pelly. Now I never could pelief dat. It seems like a peeg feesh story, put it ish all plain to my min't now, he vash not taken into de whaleish belly at all, put shust shumped onto his pack and rode ashore. O, I vash so glat I vash here to night!

"And now, Mister Breacher, if you will shust exblain two more bashages of Scriptures I shall pe, O, heppy dat I vash here to night! One of them is vere it saish de vicked shall be cast into a lake dat purns vith fire and primshtone alvays. O! Mister Breacher, shall I pe cast into that lake, if I am vickad, or shust close py or near to, shust near enough to be comfortable? O, I hopes you tell me I shall pe cast shust py a good vay off, and I vill pe so glat I vash here to-night. She other bassage is that which saish plessed are dey who do these commandments, that dey may have right to the tree of life and enter through the gates into the city. O! tell me I shall gets into the city and not shust close py or near to, shust near enough to see vat I have lost, and I shall pe so glat I vas here to-night."

A sad scene was recently witnessed in the jail at St. Louis. A young man, rendered penniless and desperate through dissipation, relieved his immediate necessities by stealing a Bible from a church was discovered and arrested. In the prison he fell sick with consumption, and when the day of his trial came was too ill to go into court. He, however, informed the District Attorney of his desire to plead guilty and to be sentenced to the penitentiary, in the hope that the change of place of confinement might be beneficial. The Court officers proceeded to the jail, in order that his request might be complied with, but it appearing that he was on the brink of eternity, the Judge concluded that it would be an act of inhumanity to pass sentence upon a dying man. A nolle pros. was entered and his removal to the hospital ordered.

Dying.—There is a dignity in going away alone, which we call dying—that wrapping of the mantle of immortality about us; that putting aside with a pale hand the azure curtains that are drawn around this cradle of a world; that venturing away from home for the first time in our lives, for we are dead, and seeing foreign countries not laid down on any maps we have read about. There must be lovely lands somewhere stayward, for none ever return who go thither, and we very much doubt if any would if they could.

About fifteen million dollars worth of artificial flowers are used annually in America. They are chiefly made in France.

In Toronto, recently, a man had his wife's coffin carried through a back window, for fear of scratching the paint off the front door.

A man was recently informed just before his marriage that his bride had fallen heir to $300,000, but he let the ceremony go on just the same.

"What are you going to do after you graduate?" asked a gentleman of a Williams' College student. "Damfino," replied the youth, "preach I s'pose."

"I believe mine will be the fate of Abel," said a devoted wife to her husband one day. "How so?" asked her husband. "Because Able was killed with a club, and your club will kill me if you continue to visit it every night."

An Indianapolis man went down to the cellar and shot seven balls at once into—a pork barrel. Because his wife did not scream, call in all the neighbors, and then swoon away, he went up stairs and thrashed her.

An Irishman with a heavy bundle on his shoulders, riding on the front of a horse-car, was asked why he did not set his bundle on the platform. He replied: "Be jabers, the horses have enough to drag me: I'll carry the bundle."

A physician being asked by a patient if he thought a little spirits now and then would hurt him much, replied, "I do not know that a little occasionally would hurt you much; but if you don't take any, it won't hurt you at all."

"Don't you think my son resembles me?" asked an apothecary, as he introduced his greasy-faced boy to the witty Dr. H——? "Yes, replied the doctor, pretending to scan the physiognomy of each; "yes, I think I can see your liniments in his countenance."

A wife in San Francisco lately put a petition for divorce in the court, on the ground that her husband was a "confounded fool." The judge, who was an old bachelor, would not admit the plea, because, he said, every man who gets married would be liable to the same imputation.

Jubal is said to have been the inventor of music. Hyagius of Phrygia invented the flute and harmony in music 1506 B. C. Vocal chorus invented 508; notes invented by Gui D'Arezzo 1028; counterpoint first brought to perfection by Palaestrini about 1515; the Italian school of composition introduced about 1616.

A Young lady at home from boarding school, for the holidays, was asked if she would have some more roast beef, when she replied: "No I thank you; gastronomical satiety admonishes me that I have arrived at the ultimate stage of deglution consistent with dietetic integrity!" She was never asked if she'd have anything more again.

Saturday was Colonel Fisk's birthday. A number of his friends sent him on the occasion a mammoth bouquet, five feet in diameter, surmounted by a Maltese cross, the badge of the Ninth regiment. Neatly arranged in colored flowers were the letters "J. F. Jr" and "E. R. R." and the words, "Thirty-six summers have gone where the woodbine twineth."

In a street car, only one place was vacant between two very voluminous ladies. A gentleman presented himself to occupy it, himself of colossal proportions, and looked with anxiety at the magre space. "You have no place to sit down, sir," said one of the ladies making herself as small as possible. "O, yes, I have plenty—but I don't know where to put it."

The English motto royal, "Dieu et mon Droit," was first used by Richard I, on his obtaining a victory over the French at Gyors, 1193. "Not we," says he, "but God and our right has conquered." The Bohemian crest of the prince of Wales—three ostrich feathers and the motto "Ich dien" ("I serve")—was adopted by Edward the black prince at the battle of Cressy, the king of Bohemia being slain in the action, 1346.

COMPLETION OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

GREAT RUSH TO STERNBERG'S.

Sung to the tune of Yankee Doodle.

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And now complete connections made,
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedy and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about
And wore out all their clothing.

Chorus, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG,
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of Spring and Summer clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

People who travel by other routes, and also people who, instead of travelling by any route at all, prefer to stay at home, can find the most superior and seasonable garments, for every occasion, of every variety, and at the lowest prices.

☞ Let all who can believe facts, and can have faith in evidence, read the following.

Know all men by these presents That, on this, the Twentieth day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-six, personally came Joseph Haydock to me known as such, and being duly sworn deposed as follows: "That he is the sole general agent for the United States and dependencies thereof for preparations or medicines known as Dr. Maggiel's Pills and Salve, and that the following certificates are verbatim copies to the best of his knowledge and belief.

JAMES SMEITBE, Notary Public,
[L. S.] 14 Wall St. New York.

June 1st, 1866.

DR. MAGGIEL:—I take my pen to write you of my great relief and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your medicine. Oh, Doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, and am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you, and hope you will not take it amiss. JAMES MYERS,
116 Avenue, D.

This is to certify that I was discharged from the army with Chronic Diarrhœa, and have been cured by Dr. Maggiel's Pills.

WILSON HARVEY,
New York, April 7, 1866. 23 Pitt Street.

The following is an interesting case of a man employed in an Iron Foundry, who, in pouring melted iron into a flask that was damp and wet, caused an explosion. The melted iron was thrown around and on him in a perfect shower, and he was burnt dreadfully. The following certificate was given to me, by him, about eight weeks after the accident:

New York, Jan. 11, 1866.

My name is Jacob Hardy; I am an Iron Founder. I was badly burnt by hot iron in November last; my burns healed, but I had a running sore on my leg that would not heal: I tried Maggiel's Salve and it cured me in a few weeks. This is all true and anybody can see me at Jackson's Iron Works, 3d Avenue.

J. HARDY, 119 Greeck St.

EXTRACTS FROM VARIOUS LETTERS.

"I had no appetite; Maggiel's Pills gave me a hearty one."

"Your Pills are marvellous."

"I send for another box, and keep them in the house."

"Dr. Maggiel has cured my headache that was chronic."

"I gave half of one of your Pills to my babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day."

"My nausea of a morning is now cured."

"Your box of Maggiel's Salve cured me of noises in the head. I rubbed some of your Salve behind my ears, and the noise has left."

"Send me two boxes, I want one for a poor family."

"I enclose a dollar, your price is 25 cents, but the medicine to me is worth a dollar."

"Send me five boxes of your Pills."

"Let me have three boxes of your Pills by return mail."

I Have over 200 such Testimonials as these, but want of space compels me to conclude.

FOR CUTANEOUS DISORDERS,

And all erruptions of the skin, the SALVE is most invaluable. It does not heal externally alone, but penetrates with the most searching effects to the very root of the evil.

DR. MAGGIEL'S PILLS

GOOD MEN A TARGET OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

The party which is now so maliciously maligning General Grant, was just as industrious in hurling invectives at Washington, and in opposing his wise and patriotic endeavors for the benefit of the country. In the early part of 1790, the Democratic party (or, as it was then called, "the opposition of anti-federalist") began to be organized in opposition to Washington's administration, and it scrupled at no means by which odium might be cast upon Washington and his supporters. In the early part of his first term, the Indians were very troublesome, and defeated our armies on several occasions which made it necessary for Congress to increase the strength of the army. The Democratic party bitterly opposed this measure, on the ground that standing armies were dangerous, and that the proposed increase showed the existence of monarchial designs on the part of the administration. And again, when the neutrality proclamation was issued (which was caused by the war of France with England and Holland) it was denounced by the Democrats as a high-handed assumption of power on the part of the President, "a royal edict," evincing his monarchial disposition.

It will thus be seen that the Democratic party not only has no respect for persons, but is even ungrateful for national existence, for the Republic owed its existence, to Washington, as he could have made a Kingdom instead of a Republic.

Grant saved the Nation, and that exposes him to the abuse of the party which so virulently attacked the father of his country.

ADVANCING,

[From the Phila. Daily Press, April 21.]

The unbroken series of recent Republican victories was supplemented yesterday by a complete triumph in the District of Columbia, at the first election held since it assumed a Territorial form of government. The fruits are a Republican delegate in Congress, a Republican House of Delegates, and better than all, a renewed assurance of Republican strength and unity, which will solidify our ranks and demoralize the already disheartened and despairing Democracy.

The result of yesterday's election is an auspicious omen of the future. A much greater victory has been achieved than even the most sanguine expected, and an emphatic rebuke administered the rebels in the South and their friends and spmpathizers of the North, at the very threshold of the old domain of slavery. The capital of the nation—from whence its politics radiate all over the land—is consecrated to Republicanism.

Apart from all these considerations, it has another and a deeper significance. It ends Republican dissensions and inaugurates the era of harmony. Henceforth we move forward in solid phalanx and under one leader. It is a new departure, and of the whole party.

The campaign of 1872 may now be looked upon as virtually settled. The Democracy—unprogressive and clinging to the past—refuse to recognize the results of the war or to obey its lessons. They apologize for outrages on Union men at the South and countenance opposition to the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments. All the manifestoes ever issued or to be issued cannot convince the country to the contrary. Their programme for 1872 is to be that of 1868 repeated over again, and it must be met with the same arguments and under the same leaders.

General Grant will unquestionably be the nominee of the Republican party. He has proven himself the man for the hour; and while he has differed in his views with many of the leaders, ourselves among the number, on certain questions—affecting neither the principles nor the policy of the party—he has at all times shown himself ready to acquiesce in the will of the people, and unwilling to enforce any measure or scheme obnoxious to them.

In the light of all recent events he is the fittest person to lead the Republican columns. His great victories in war have been repeated in peace; and as he crushed the first rebellion so will he that which now, dark and threatening, looms up in the Southern horizon. The power conferred on him by the bill enforcing the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution, which yesterday received his sanction, will be rigidly exercised, and peace and prosperity restored to every State of the Union.

Under his lead we shall advance to greater triumphs than ever, and render secure forever by the ballot, and in the constitutional manner, what we accomplished with the bullet on the battle-field.

COURT PROCLAMATION.

Whereas the Hon. Charles A. Mayer, President of the court of Common Pleas, in the 25th Judicial District, consisting of the counties of Centre, Clinton and Clearfield, and the Honorable John Hosterman and the Honorable William Allison, Associate Judges in Centre county, having issued their precept, bearing date the 28th day of March A. D., 1871, to me directed for holding a court of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery and Quarter Sessions of the Peace in Bellefonte, for the county of Centre, and to commence on the 4th Monday of April next, being the 24th day of April 1871, and to continue one week.

Notice is therefore hereby given to the Coroner Justice of the Peace, Aldermen and Constables of the said county of Centre, that they be then and there in their proper persons, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, with their records, inquisitions, examinations, and their own remembrances, to do those things which to their office appertains to be done, and those who are bound in recognizances to prosecute against the prisoners that are or shall be in the Jail of Centre county, be then and there to prosecute against them as shall be just.

Given under my hand, at Bellefonte, the 23d day of Mar. in the year of our Lord, 1871 and in the ninety-fourth year of the Independence of the United States.

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

COMPOUND FLUID Extract Catawba GRAPE PILLS.

Component Parts—Fluid Extract Rhubard and Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Juice.

For Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Bilious Affections, Sick Or Nervous Headache, Costiveness Etc. Purely Vegetable, Containing No Mercury, Minerals Or Deleterious Drugs.

H

These Pills are the most delightfully pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone, and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the finest ingredients. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar-coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated. PRICE FIFTY CENTS PER BOX.

E

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED COMPOUND

Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla

Will radically exterminate from the system Scrofula, Syphilis, Fever, Sores, Ulcers, Sore Eyes, Sore Legs, Sore Mouth, Sore Head, Bronchitis, Skin Diseases, Salt Rheum, Cankers, Running from the Ear, White Swellings, Tumors Cancerous Affections, Nodes, Rickets, Glandular Swellings, Night Sweats, Rash, Tetter, Humors of all Kinds, Chronic Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, and all diseases that have been established in the system for years.

L

Being prepared expressly for the above complaints, its blood-purifying properties are greater than any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. It gives the complexion a clear and healthy color and Restores the patient to a state of health and purity. For purifying the blood, removing all chronic constitutional diseases arising from an impure state of the blood. And the only Reliable and effectual known remedy for the cure of Pains and Swelling of the Bones, Ulcerations of the Throat and Legs, Blotches, Pimples on the Face, Erysipelas and all Scaly Eruptions of the Skin, and Beautifying the Complexion. Price, $1.50 Per Bottle.

M

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, THE GREAT DIURETIC,

has cured every case of DIABETES in which it has been given, Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-dust Deposit, and Mucous or Milky Discharges, and for Enfeebled and Delicate Constitutions of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Etc.

Used by persons from the ages of eighteen to twenty-five, and from thirty-five to fifty-five or in the decline or change of life; after confinement or labor pain; and wetting in children.

B

Helmbold's extract buchu is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and Cures all Diseases arising from habits of Dissipation, and Excesses and Imprudences in life Impurities of the Blood, Etc., Superseding Copaiba in Affections for which it is used, and Syphilitic Affections—In these Diseases used in Connection with Helmbold's rose wash.

LADIES.

In many affections peculiar to ladies, the extract buchu is Unequalled by any other remedy as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or schirrus state of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Sterility, and for all Complaints incident to the Sex, whether arising from Indiscretion or Habits of Dissipation. It is prescribed extensively by the most Eminent Physicians and Midwives for Enfeebled and Delicate Constitutions, of Both Sexes and all Ages (attended with any of the above Diseases or Symptoms.)

O

H. T. HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU CURES DISEASES ARISING FROM IMPRUDENCES, HABITS, OF DISSIPATION, ETC.,

in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience, and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflamation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, and perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all Affections and Diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. PRICE ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS PER BOTTLE.

HENRY T. HELMBOLB'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

cannot be surpassed as a Face Wash, and will be found the only specific remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily eradicates Pimples Spots, Scorbutic Dryness, Indurations of the Cutaneous Membrane, etc., dispels redness and incipient inflammation, hives, rash, moth patches, dryness of scalp or skin, frost bites, and all purposes for which salves or ointments are used; restore the skin to a state of purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principle claim to undounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a Toilet Appendage of the most Superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, safety and efficacy—the invariable accompaniments of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent Lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the EXTRACTS BUCHU, SARSAPARILLA, AND CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, in such diseases as recommended, cannot be surpassed. PRICE, ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.

The Great Medical Discovery!

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the peculiar merit of relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

Little Things.

How little it takes to make one happy. Could we fully realize this, we would often see where we could add to one's happiness, and utterly fail to make glad the hearts of those we truly love and wish to please. A smile of love and approval, a gentle pressuae of the hand, a kind word, a sympathetic glance, a fond clasp of the arms around a loved ferm, a kiss of holy love—all these little things, simple in themselves, yet fraught with ten fold meaning from the soul within, shed sunshine in the hearts of many. How often we see those who truly love and yet make no outward demonstration! They do not see that some being is pining for one look of love, for one word of endearment. They are striving to make some one happy, and failing at every turn, they go on in the path of life, hand in hand, and side by side with some gentle one, whose soul is longing for love, for some little words to keep the heart from growing cold. They fail to perceive the loneliness of a heart with a capacity for loving and being loved, thrown back upon its own sad communings by coldness and repulse. Oh, let those who are cold and undemonstrative in manner cast off for one moment their austere looks; let them unseal the casket of their hearts, and shower the treasures of their love on the beloved ones, and see what sun rays of happiness are shed around in hearts once sad and lonely, now made glad by words and tones of love and kindness.

Argumentum Ad Fulmen.

A minister living somewhere on the frontier of Missouri, was in the habit of saying to his family and his church—"Friends, you need not take any unusual care about your lives; the moment of your death was 'writ' before the foundation of the world, and you cannot alter it."

His wife observed when he left on Saturday to meet one of his frontier missionary engagements, that he dressed the flint of his rifle with unusual care, put in dry powder, fresh tow, and took every pains to make sure the gun would go off in case he came upon an Indian.

It struck her one day, when she saw him with his rifle on his shoulder, that his conduct contradicted his teachings, and she said to him:—

"My dear, why do you take this rifle with you? If it was 'writ' before the foundation of the world that you were to be killed this trip by an Indian, that rifle would not prevent it, and if you are not to be killed, of course the rifle is unnecessary; so why do you take it with you at all?"

"Yes," he replied, "to be sure my dear, of course, you are very right, and thas is a very proper view; but see here, my dear—now—really—but—then—you see, my dear—to be sure—but—then—suppose I should meet an Indian and his time had come, and I hadn't my rifle with me, what would he do? Yes, my dear, we must all contribute all we can towards the fulfillment of the decrees of Providence.'

TOOK IT EASY.—A short time since a couple of Bismarks were playing a duet on a card table, with an accompaniement by Gambrinus, in an up-town saloon, when a third Teuton entered excitedly, and, addressing one of the players, said:

"Shingledidder; you hos'n vaggon is run avay."

"Ish dot so? Vhy you don't sthop him up a leedle?"

"Because he vas more als half a square before I see him."

"How you know he vas my hoss und vaggon?"

"Vhy, you know, he had your name on de vaggon."

"Is dot so? Vell, you dink you is pooty shmart, ain't it? But dot is not my vaggon, it is my vife's hoss'n vaggon. Hurry up Shake (to his partner), und blay out dish game. If dot hoss'n vaggon git shmashed up, ven I go home ter night my vife, give me h—l Columbus."

"DOCTOR, I wish you would call at my residence this afternoon. My eldest boy has been ailing for some time past and to-day he seems to be growing worse."

About three o'clock the doctor visited the patient, and after a careful investigation, informed Mrs. Brown that it was nothing but a corrustified exegesis, antispasmodically emenating from the animal refrigerator, produced by a proclivity of iaritability in the parriennial epidermis of the mental profundity."

"Law, me!" exclaimed Mrs. Brown, I told Mrs. Jones that, but she wouldn't believe it."

A GOOD and a wise man may at times be angry with the would, at times grieved for it; but be sure no man was ever discontented with the world who did his duty in it.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

Wednesday Morning, April 26, 1871.

HOME NEWS.

MR. BREYMAN, daily receives Fresh Fish at Garman's hotel

THE cheapest and largest stock of Hats, prices will astonish you at Burnside & Thomas'.

WELCOME.—So many of our friends have called upon us in our seclusion, up to this time of writing, that it is impossible to give them all a personal notice. They were all fine looking men and intelligent as are all Republicans. Come again gentlemen.

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer will stimulate the absorbents and the secretions of the hair tubes until they regain their original vigor. Try it.

STAVES AND HEADS.—We learn that a company of gentlemen have paid our town a visit, with a view to establishing a stave and head manufactory. They are men of great wealth, and if they come will ask no aid or bonus from our citizens. If they decide upon coming their buildings will be erected at Messrs. Linn & McCoys dam, just below the Lime Kilnes of C. T. & J. R. Alexander. They will give employment to about forty men. Let them come.

COINCIDENCE. David Allen, Esq., one of the oldest citizens of Bald Eagle Valley, died at his residence on Friday the 21st inst., near Flemington, Clinton county, aged about 85 years. He has been blind for many years, and singular to say his wife nearly the same age, died on the 21st day of February last and was buried on the 23d, while her husband died on the 21st and was buried on the 23d of April, just two months after. They lived together in wedded life for over 60 years on the same farm.

SMOKING.—Smoking may be a bad habit or it may not. We know that there is a difference of opinion on the subject. One thing we do know, and that is, that we very seldom indulge in the weed in that way. But when such talented friends as Charles H. Hale, Esq., present us with whole boxes of them we cannot refuse to accept nor refrain from indulging in their use. Mr. Hale is one of the most highly educated as well as one of the most talented young lawyers at this Bar. May he live to enjoy many a puff of the best brands both of cigars and news-papers.

SUDDEN DEATH.—On Tuesday the 18th inst., Virginia, daughter of James David of Beech Creek, died very suddenly. She had symptoms of consumption for some time; but never was so sick as not to be able to go about her work. On Tuesday the day mentioned she was engaged at sewing all day, and made a coat for one of her little brothers. When the coat was finished she went out in the yard to get some chips to start a fire to heat the flat irons, with which to press the seams. Feeling drowsy she raised her arms above her head, when the blood commenced to gush from her mouth. She died in a few minutes afterwards.

THE following committee will meet in the M. E. Church at Stormstown, Tuesday May 2d at 1 o'clock P. M. Rev. L. Chambers, P. B. Waddle, Jacob Gray of Halfmoon circuit; Rev A. R. Barlow, C. O. Whippo, J. G. Jones of Port Matilda Circuit; to receive the money, count the votes, and award the quilt voted to Rev. E Butler, or Rev. J. B. Akers. Persons holding papers and money can enclose them in a letter addressed to the committee at Half Moon Centre county, Pa.

C. O. WHIPPO.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Friday the 21st inst., on the saw mill of Taylor, Day & Morey, at Beech creek, James King, aged about 35 years, while in the act of manufacturing roofing lath, was struck in the side by one, which penetrated his bowels about five inches. He was immediately taken to his residence, about one half mile from the mill, and medical aid procured; but he suffered in great agony until Saturday morning when he died. He leaves a wife and six small children to mourn their loss. He was a poor man; but honest and industrious, and labored hard to support his wife and little family. Peace to his ashes.

LARCENY.—About three or four weeks since, some person not having the fear of the law before his eyes, and careing very little for the opinion the public might entertain of him, entered the shop of Michael Pletcher, who resides about one mile below Howardville, and stole therefrom about $20 worth of tools, besides one brace with about 50 brace-bits and fourteen new hand saw files, two large files and a number of other articles. Of course Mr. Pletcher will miss many others when he comes to look them up for use. The thief or thieves entered the shop through the back window. Since writing the above, we learn that Mr. Pletcher has some clue to the guilty party. We hope he may detect and punish the scoundrel.

FIRE.—On Saturday morning last, about 2 o'clock a. m., Mr. Geo. F. Ronian's Restaurant, Bowling Alley and dwelling burned to ashes in less than half an hour. The fire was first discovered about half past 1 o'clock and before 2 o'clock the whole fabric had tumbled down and was a pile of burning ruins. The account books, all of the furniture, the bedding, the wearing apparel of his wife and family, as well as all his own clothes, except the suit he had on in Lock Haven, (for he was in Lock Haven when the fire occurred) were consumed. His wife and children and the other inmates of the dwelling made a very narrow escape. Mrs. Ronian after heroically saving her children, two interesting little boys, saved herself, by jumping in her night clothes, from a second story window. Frank Galbraith deserves credit for the heroism and presence of mind displayed by him on the occasion. He lost a box of tools and all his clothing.

As we have already stated Mr. Ronian was in Lock Haven, having left home on last Thursday. Imagine his feelings, if you can, when he received the dispatch that he was house less and homeless, his family barely escaping a dreadful death. Just here we must say hanging is too good for the fiend in human shape who could or would set fire to any building. What then, we ask, should be the punishment inflicted for fireing a dwelling in the silent hours of night? We write this because we are fully convinced that the fire was the work of an incendiary.

Mr. Ronian's loss, we are informed, at the lowest calculation is $1,500. The Bowling Alley belonged to D. G. Bush, Esq., and was insured for $500. The Gymnasium and Restaurant buildings belonged to Dr. Tipple and Mr. Ronian and were insured for $1,200, the policy being in the name of Dr. Tipple. As will be seen this leaves Mr. Ronian without any insurance, without house or home or place of business, without furniture, without bed-clothes, or wearing apparel for his family, save what he has purchased and had made up since the fire. It leaves him in fact a little bearer in the world than when he was first married and started out in life ten years ago. But he must not despair. Let him remember that the darkest hour is just before day. He has a good head, an able body, strong arms and a brave heart, and we have no doubt will nerve up under this heavy loss, while he is compelled to commence anew the great battle of life. But is it right, that he in a rich, christian and benevolent community should be left to battle alone, to suffer alone and to bear alone all this, to him, heavy loss?

THE RAILROAD.—The Railroad is now located from Bellefonte to "Paly's Mountain" nine miles below the forks of Penns creek. The line as we are informed, follows Logan Branch to the mill belonging to our enterprising friend C. Dale, Jr., (formerly Meases Mill) then by Michael Groves splendid farm to Lemont, passing in front of the beautiful new Presbyterian church at that place, then to Dales Mill, which is claimed to be the "end of the Mountain"—through Oak Hall, Linden Hall, up Cedar Creek and then by the way of the Old Fort to Sinking Creek—to Spring Mills and Penns creek. As will be seen this leaves our Boalsburg friends a little to one side. We are exceedingly sorry for this; but it appears friends that the fates as well as location, are against us. Never despair the through route may put you all right yet.

Another line was located from below the Old Fort North West to what is called the Manor Line connecting with the Cedar Creek route at Linden Hall. This line was the "Compromise line" of Centre Hall whose citizens have done so much in money, time and labor in raising the subscriptions for Potter township. If there are any people, who should be favored it is certainly the people of Centre Hall.

The work on both of these lines, with the exception of one or two miles is very light, and grades easy. The heavy work is from Bellefonte to the Old Furnace (Valentines) and the tunnels on Penns creek. The estimates will all be made in a few weeks and laid before the Board of Directors at their meeting in Philadelphia, when a letting will be had. It now rests with the people of the Valley. It is for them to say whether the road shall go on or not. The right of way has been secured on nearly the whole line, with a few exceptions, and they, we are inclined to believe, are only holding out, as Furey of the Watchman would say, through pure cussedness. We think the prospects for the speedy completion of the road could not be finer, and we should dislike very much to be one of the men who will stop to quibble now either about the right of way or location.

NEW MAP.—Our old friend H. P. Tretziyuny Esq., one of the best surveyors in Pennsylvania, showed us a Map executed by him, showing the lines between Centre, Mifflin and Clinton counties. It is neatly executed and does Mr. Tretziyuny great credit. We hope he may live to make many more maps and to run a great many more lines before he goes hence and is no more.

For the REPUBLICAN.

MILESBURG HIGH SCHOOL.—The High School of Milesburg closed its winter term on Saturday evening, the 8th inst. This school has been under the care of Prof. F. W Campbell, a thorough and efficient teacher, and the exercises at the close prove that the educational interest of those under his charge are in safe hands. The programme was as follows, viz. Prayer by Jas. F. Weaver, after which the Milesburg String band, who by the way are always ready to contribute to a good cause, discoursed one of their soul stirring pieces (The Heroes Quickstep) which made every heart present beat in perfect unison to the sentiment onward by quickstep in the great cause of education. Next in order was the calling of the Roll, each scholar responding with an appropriate sentiment. Again the soul reviving air, Bridal March, was played by the Band, which made one feel that we were marching with rapid stride in the great cause for which we had then convened. Next an introductory address by Mr. Clayton Parsons, a lad of about twelve summers. This was ably done giving a welcome to one and all to their pleasant school room. After which commenced the reading of a paper published by the school, called the Rising Star. The first division of the paper was read by Mr. Jimmy Ryman and Miss. Lillie Adams, which was done in a clear distinct and audable tone giving all a chance to hear the various ideas, wit and humor that passes in the minds of Young America. And here again the audience was favored by another piece from the band called the Diston Waltz. Then came the reading of the 2d division of the paper which was done by Mr. Herman Haupt and Miss. Ella Lee. This division was well read and we cannot forbear complimenting Miss. Lee on her ability as a reader. The Band again came in for their part of the play enlivening the exercises by playing the piece called Medley No. 2. Next, Declamation by Master George Irvin, subject, "How our school scatters in by Rhyme." None escaped the young trio, each one having to bear a share of his witticisms. Next, reading of the 3rd division of the Rising Star by Mr. Jimmy Ryman and Miss. Lillie Adams, in this division was everything usually found in a county paper. The Band then discoursed a beautiful piece called the Swiss air. Again the reading was resumed by Mr. Herman Haupt and Miss. Ella Lee. Next, a declamation by Mr. Joseph Rodgers, subject, "Complimentary Rhyme on Directors and Teachers. The entertainment was grand and would have done honor to those of more mature years. The band then played that beautiful piece the Mocking Bird, after which the exercises closed. It was estimated that over two hundred and fifty persons were present, the house being entirely too small to accommodate more than one half of what was there.

G.

SYRUP Molasses can't be beat, at lowest prices, at Burnside & Thomas'.

HOTEL.—Wm. Robb, Esq., Proprietor of the Nittany Hall Hotel, we are free to say keeps one of the best country hotels in the county. It is large and commodious and furnished in the best of style. His table is always furnished with the very best, and generally superintended by his amiable and obliging wife. While he has a license and keeps nothing but the purest and best of liquors, no person ever heard of Mr. Robb being before Court for violating the license law. He is temperate and industrious himself and thus, by his example, keeps every person about him quiet and orderly well fed and sober.

THANKS.—A few days since we were the happy recipients of a box of fine cigars sent to us by express from the Wholesale Tobacco and Segar House of the Messrs. Simmons & Co., No. 408, Market Street, Phila. They were sent by L. D. Apsley, Esq., the gentlemanly and enterprising Agent of this firm. There are few if any better agents than Mr. Apsley, and it is with pleasure we recommend him and the firm of Simmons & Co., to our merchants both in town and country.

IF you want to see Mackrel two inches thick without heads or tails on, go to Burnside & Thomas'.

THE CORNER.—The saloon and eating house on the corner of Allegheny and Bishop streets formerly occupied by Thomas Linn, has been purchased and reopened by Jos. Hawkins, who proposes to keep it in excellent style. Mr. Hawkins was a faithful and good soldier for three years in the late rebellion and is a clever young man. He says he will violate no license law and keep his place quiet and orderly or shut up shop.

RESTAURANT.—H. H. Stone has opened a first class Restaurant and eating house in the Bush Arcade Building, where he proposes to furnish meals at all hours. He keeps constantly on hand beef tongue, fried liver, Oysters the very largest and best, boiled eggs, as well as everything usually kept in a well arranged eating house. His latch string is always out.

FISHING tackel of all kinds and varieties, 33 per cent lower than any other place, at Burnside & Thomas'.

For the REPUBLICAN.

MESSRS. EDITORS:

I have been Watching the columns of your paper for the last few weeks, expecting to see an account of the reunion of the children and friends of an old couple at this place, and not seeing any report, I now send you the details.

The 16th of March being the aniversary of the marriage of Antis and Maria Bathurst (they having been married fifty-three years that day) their children and friends determined to surprise the old couple and spend a few hours of enjoyment in their mountain home. The 12 m. train brought the friends from the lower part of the county, and by 2 o'clock a party of children, grand children and great grand children was seen winding their way up the mountain side, which to the eye of the looker on, appeared like a small army on the move, each armed with a huge basket filled to Gospel measure, with all the delicacies that the appetite of an epicure could desire.

The old couple were really taken by surprise; and could not imagine what was up, until they were told. Joy and sorrow blended in each of their countenances as their minds wandered back over the stormy vista of life to that day fifty-three years ago.

We need only say that a most happy re-union was held and joy and good will reigned supreme for the space of a few hours, when one of the best of suppers was gotten up, of which about eighty persons partook. At a late hour the party withdrew, after making two old hearts happy for one day at least.

Mr. and Mrs. Bathurst, are a fair representation of an old and by gone day, being both upwards of eighty years of age. They have been members of the methodist church since childhood and have lived a happy blameless life, loved and respected by all who know them.

God bless the old couple; may they live to see and enjoy many re-unions of their children; and when their sun of life reaches the western horizon or dies out in this world, may it re-light in that world where sorrow never enters.

For beyond the rolling river
There's a land of immortal light,
Where sin and death comes never
Or the silent shades of night.

There anguish never enters,
Within those sacred walls:
But sweet and holy music
From the murmuring river falls.

And may they, be aged Pilgrims
Journey hither hand in hand,
And join the blissful numbers
In Gods' own chosen land.

C.

BOOKS, &c.—The Post office Book Store, formerly belonging to J. D. Miller now engaged in the mercantile business at Pleasant Gap, has been purchased by Mr. James Welch. Mr. Welch is a good business man and is prepared to supply the public with, books, stationery, paper collars, lead pencils, pocket books, as well as every article usually kept in a well arranged Book Store. He is a modest unassuming man, and deserves the patronage of the public.

ENTERPRISE.—We are pleased to learn that our enterprising friends James Huston and W. W. Rogers, Esqs., trading under the firm name of Huston & Rodgers at Nittany Hall are doing an excellent business at their well stock-Dry good's store. There stock is always of the very best quality and they are determined to be undersold by no establishment in the county. They also deal in flour, chop and grain of all kinds. They are both good and reliable men. We wish them great success. Come and see us often.

KID GLOVES.—Loeb, May & Loeb, one of the strongest and best firms in town have just received from the city 100 dozen of ladies kid gloves of different colors. Also a stock of ladies' linen duck dress suits, linen cambric dress suits, linen lawn dress suits, together with a large variety of ladies' percales dress suits, consisting of dress, sack and overskirt. Ladies' of Centre county remember the place—Loeb, May & Loeb. Bargains, bargains, bargains. Be sure to call.

FISH.—Mr. M. Breyman, of Tiffin, Ohio, visited our town last week, bringing with him a barrel of Pickeral fish which he disposed of in a very short time to our citizens. They were exceedingly good. This day he will received another supply consisting of white fish, cat-fish and pickeral. Mr. Breyman will continue in the fish business here so long as the fish market lasts. He is a very clever man. He is stopping at Garman's Hotel.

IMPORTANT TO FISHERMEN.—All who love to catch trout, should not fail to buy the matchless 'McBride Trout Flies' which Deschner now offers for sale at No. 5, Bush's Arcade. They are pronounced by competent judges to be the best in the market. He has also just received, and is still receiving, the most complete assortment of Fishing Tackle, &c., ever offered in the county. Call and be convinced. 2t.

BREYMAN, has just received a lot of Fresh Fish, don't fail to call and see him, at Garman's hotel.

PROMPTNESS.—Two weeks since we published the fact of the burning of Mr. Jacob Barlets house. It just twelve days from the burning of that house, which, as we have since learned, was insured in the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company of York Pa., the General Agent of that popular and reliable company, visited our town, adjusted and paid the loss.

We happened to be present when the money was paid and it affords us pleasure to recommend any company of men, who by thus dealing fairly, honorably and promptly with their unfortunate policy holders, convince us, that they are entitled to the confidence of the community.

B. F. Walker, Esq., the Agent who adjusted this loss is not only a practical insurance man; but a perfect gentleman as well. While we would be glad to take him by the hand often, we have too much regard for the interest of his sterling company to desire his early return, to this town, as his visits are only made in connection with a fire through which the company sustain a loss. If he could pay our town a visit on pleasure during the summer, it would, we can assure him, be much more beneficial to his health than a visit to any of the fashionable watering places. We almost forgot to say that Mr. Walker, while here, with an eye to business, secured another agent for his company in this county, in the person of our enterprising insurance friend E. H. Kinsloe. It is useless for us to congratulate Mr. Walker, on the wisdom of his choice, for every person here knows, had he hunted the county all over, he could not have found a better. We hope the new agent will find plenty of business in insuring farmers and others, and that the company may sustain few losses.

MANUFACTORIES.—What we want in Bellefonte and Centre county, is more manufactories. We want them in Bellefonte, and whose fault is it that we do not have them? Others may answer the question. The Watchman advocates more manufactories, but in the next line argues in favor of free trade. Will this build up either town or country? This question the Watchman may answer if it can. Manufactories, Protection and prosperity go hand in hand. Labor is wealth, and whatever will give employment to the laboring man must bring prosperity to all, and consequently enhance the value of real estate. We were led to these remarks upon learning that the "King Iron Bridge and Manufacturing Co.," of Cleveland Ohio, was about making arrangements to start a branch manufactory here. We sincerely hope it is true. We would say to the company, as well as to their gentlemanly and efficient Agent at Harrisburg, C. W. Dean, Esq., come and see. There is no better iron in this country, than that manufactured in Centre county. And Spring Creek and Logans Branch, both beautiful streams afford the finest water power in the world. Let the question be agitated and every inducement held out by our citizens to these men, to establish a branch manufactory at once.

FASHIONABLE TAILOR.—It is with pleasure we call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of W. S. Tripple, fashionable tailor, High street, Bellefonte Pa. Mr. Tripple has been engaged in the business for many years in this place, and the older he grows, the better and higher his reputation becomes. It is seldom if ever he makes a misfit. We think we can safely say, that there are fewer complaints of his work than of any other tailor we have ever known. He keeps nothing but the best of stock, and makes it up to order in the neatest and best style. Persons in order to satisfy themselves of the truth of what we assert, can call at our office and after ordering what ever job work they may want, or paying a years subscription in advance, can take a look at our neat fitting pantaloons just new from the shop of Mr. Tripple. It is worth $2,00 to see them. If it were not for the fear of spoiling the effects of this truthful notice, we would say they were presented to us, and are worth $12,00. This beats the Warburton hat, don't it Joe?

CHICKENS.—John Uzzle, Esq., of Snow Shoe township has a splendid variety of chickens, consisting of all the best breeds in the country. He has over one thousand of them, so we are informed. They have been doing remarkably well, until recently a maliciously disposed person, (whose name we suppress for the present) has been manufacturing personal amusement by administering poison to Mr. Uzzle's fancy fowls. It may be fun for the individual; but it is certain death to the chickens. Fiend be ware. Cease your wickedness Remember you are known.

A REQUEST.—Mr. Ronian requests that the parents of those children who gathered up and carried home, the morning of the fire, the little iron banks, belonging to Mr. Ronian's little boys will please return them to him at the Brockerhoff House. He sets a great deal of store by them. We are informed that there was a nice little sum of silver coin in each of them.

Markets crowded out this week.

THE PORT GRAPE IN NEW JERSEY.—The following cannot fail to satisfy any sceptical persons about Speer's wine being purely a grape juice wine:

PASSAIC, Oct. 23d, 1870.

This is to certify that I have been a resident of Passaic for the past twelve years, during which time I have known Mr. Alfred Speer, and been thoroughly posted in the manufacture by him of his celebrated wines, and can testify to the fact derived from a personal knowledge that his excellent Port Grape Wine is made entirely from the Oporto Grape, which he extensively cultivates in vineyards in sight of my residence. The Port Grape vine is a variety of his own raising, cultivated exclusively by himself, and is a superior grape.

C. M. K. PAULISON,
U. S. Deputy Collector, Int. Rev.

Our druggists have some of this wine, direct from Mr. Speer.

BOOTS AND SHOES.—The cheapest and best Boot and Shoe store in Bellefonte, is owned by Messrs. Graham & Son. The senior member of the firm has just returned from the Eastern cities, where he has purchased the largest and best stock of Boots and Shoes ever brought to this town. Having purchased for cash, the firm will now be enabled to offer their stock at greatly reduced prices. Look to your own interest friends and be sure to call on Graham & Son, before purchasing elsewhere. Remember the place, next door to the Post Office, and the name Graham & Son.

MONEY invested at Burnside & Thomas', is a clear saving of 20 to 30 per cent.
